Flute-a-rama 2020

Expert Takoma Park flute teachers Carrie Rose and Melissa Lindon help nurture students' love for music and make learning about music FUN!

Designed especially for young flutists, each day will feature a variety of music and flute-related topics, with an emphasis on tone development, scales, and warm-ups to help students keep in shape and improve their skills for the coming school year. Be ready for auditions and lessons – and enjoy the process!

Each day also includes coached ensemble sessions, with a performance by the Flute-a-rama Ensembles on the final day.

No matter how long you've played the flute, you'll come away with ideas and inspiration – and new friends!

Flute-a-rama Teachers

Carrie Rose, flutist and composer, has been teaching for over 20 years and has a thriving private flute studio in Takoma Park. Diverse musical pursuits include freelancing with regional orchestras, grooving for folk dances, and wailing out avant-garde chamber music in the flute collective, inHALE. She produces the Origins Concert Series (a hub for adventurous music-seekers), has received numerous grants for her performing and composing from the State of Maryland and Montgomery County, and in DC's City Paper, she was named a "favorite local composer". Rose earned Master and Bachelor of Music degrees from the Cleveland Institute of Music.

Melissa Lindon has taught students of all ages and levels for over 25 years, helping them find their musical voice. She serves on the flute faculties of Washington Adventist University and Howard Community College, and teaches private flute and piano lessons in Takoma Park. An active freelancer in the DC area, she is flutist and founder of the Patagonia Winds (wind quintet). She holds Flute Performance degrees from Boston University (MMus, BMus) and Southern Methodist University (A.C.) and is also a certified yoga teacher (E-RYT500) who enjoys leading "Yoga for Musicians" workshops. She lives in a purple bungalow with her family, including a black cat and assorted fish.
